Change your mind...
create new results.

"In the workshop, I learned what the human mind is capable of and now I have the knowledge and power to change anything. Anna was amazing she has such passion and knowledge! I recommend it to anyone looking to become greater leaders, it changes life!"

– Travis Oster
COO
Oster Farms Ltd.

Organizations are realizing that employees are their greatest asset.

This workshop, developed by Dr. Joe Dispenza, neuroscientist and best-selling author, is an experience like none other. It is designed to help develop your staff into a creative, committed and fully-engaged team.

The "Change Your Mind...Create New Results" workshop uses a dynamic combination of science, videos, and in-class practices to teach you how to maximize the most powerful tool available: your brain. As a result, participants will make significant shifts in perspectives and possibility thinking. These shifts translate into increased professional performance and collective organizational change.

With this workshop, and recommended group coaching, you will:

- Learn how the brain works and why this is important for change
- Set intentions for yourself and your organization, becoming more productive and less distracted
- Apply practices, based on neuroscience, to create pathways to new potentials becoming more open to new ideas and less stuck in the past
- Experience how to mentally rewire your brain to be more creative and trusting, less rigid and fearful

Dr. Joe Dispenza, a global lecturer, has worked closely with master trainers and curriculum design experts to create a program specifically designed to facilitate organizational change. Through a rigorous application, selection, and certification process, Dr. Dispenza has personally certified trainers to deliver this work.
